

PEST MANAGEMENT IS ESSENTIAL - EVEN DURING A PANDEMIC

If you're closing down your business during the Covid 19 pandemic, pest management services must continue.

Pest control and management remains critical to public health and safety. We urge you to continue with this service as long as its reasonably practicable to do so.

As BPCA Members, we have proved ourselves to be highly trained, qualified and audited to the highest standards.

We can continue to provide this essential service while mitigating the risks posed by Covid 19 wherever possible.

Rodents, flies and many other pests carry and transmit diseases, some of which can be fatal.

They contaminate food, ruin stock, cause fires and floods, plus impact on your reputation. Pest management is as critical now as it has ever been.

Proactive pest management is the only way we can minimise the risks that pests pose to public health and safety, particularly in regard to the contamination of our food supplies.

Rodents and flies can breed at an alarming rate if left undetected. Your pest management company will spot early signs of any pests and be able to take action to reduce the likelihood of infestations occurring.

HELP US TO HELP YOU.

You can prevent infestations from getting out of control during this period if you continue with your pest management services where it's safe to do so.

BE PROTECTED. PROFESSIONALLY.

Make sure your business will be safe to re-open once we get through this difficult time.
